
PÉTER P. PACH, Budapest University of Technology and Economics

Polynomials and progression-free sets

In this talk we will look at a new variant of the polynomial method which was first used to show that sets avoiding 3-term arithmetic progressions in groups like \mathbb{Z}_4^n and \mathbb{F}_q^n are exponentially small (compared to the size of the group). Since then many interesting applications of this method were shown.